Scenario:

Read the following dialogue where John and Amadou discuss upcoming family events and certain dates.

John: Tiens Amadou, t'as pensé à ce que tu allais faire pour le 31 décembre?

Amadou: Non, pas encore. Je dois déjà m'occuper de l'anniversaire de mon neveux. L'un est le 19 septembre et celui des 2 jumeaux tombe le 28 octobre.

John: Ça fait beaucoup de cadeaux à préparer!

Amadou: Oui, pas mal. J'essaie de leur offrir 2 ou 3 cadeaux chacun, étant donné que le 25 décembre arrive peu de temps après.

John: Tant que tu y es, pense à moi, mon anniversaire, c'est le 10 novembre.

Exercise 1 (follow-up)

Share your ideas with the class. What new expressions do you see? What words are new or seem different as they are presented here?

Note to the instructor: review some terms beforehand: penser à (to think about something), use of imperfect with aller: allais faire, I must: Je dois, Tant que tu y es: idiomatic usage here.

Exercise 2 (Pair Work)

Before you learn about Francophone celebrations, discuss your own family traditions. How do you prepare for an upcoming family event? Are there some celebrations that your family makes more important than others?

Tip of the day: Numbers 70-99

It might make it easier for you to remember that ...

- numbers 70-79 are sixty (+) ten (= seventy), sixty()+ eleven, etc.
- numbers 80-99 are four (x) twenty (= eighty), four (x) twenty (+) one (= eighty-one), four (x) twenty (+) ten (= ninety), four (x) twenty (+) eleven (= ninety-one), etc.

Whatever our worldview and/or place of residence, we go about life using time as a reference to structure our activities. How we talk about the past, the present or the future is very culture-specific and many people around the world use various concepts and notions, based on their belief systems, to mark the events taking place in their lives. As an expatriate, your adaptation to the new culture will depend largely on you knowing what is important in the lives of your hosts so that you can fit in culturally and socially. This lesson deals with how the societies in West Africa divide, use, and celebrate their time. Expressing numbers in French will help you provide information such as your address, understand and ask about prices, say dates, and describe or relate to cultural events / holidays.

Express Numbers 21-100

You have studied the basics of counting in Module 1 Lesson 3. Follow along as your instructor goes over the numbers below. Numbers from 20 to 69 follow the same pattern:

21	vingt et un	40	quarante
22	vingt-deux	41	quarante et un
23	vingt-trois	42	quarante-deux
24	vingt-quatre	50	cinquante
25	vingt-cinq	51	cinquante et un
26	vingt-six	52	cinquante-deux
27	vingt-sept	60	soixante
28	vingt-huit	61	soixante et un
29	vingt-neuf	62	soixante-deux
30	trente
31	trente et un
32	trente-deux

Note that for 21, 31, 41, etc. the word and, “et” is placed between the number group and one, literally 20 and one: vingt-et-un, trente-et-un, etc. Stress the –s sound of the x in soixante. In the numbers from 21-29, the –t of vingt is always pronounced; vingt-cinq.

Numbers from 70 to 79 have soixante as a base and add the numbers 11-19 (up to 79):

70	soixante-dix (sixty + ten)	77	soixante-dix-sept
71	soixante et onze	78	soixante-dix-huit
72	soixante-douze	79	soixante-dix-neuf (sixty + nineteen)
73	soixante-treize
74	soixante-quatorze
75	soixante-quinze
76	soixante-seize

Numbers from 80 to 99 have quatre-vingts (literally four twenties) as a base and add the numbers 1-19:

80	quatre-vingts -s used for 80
81	quatre-vingt-un
82	quatre-vingt-deux
83	quatre-vingt-trois
90	quatre-vingt-dix
91	quatre-vingt-onze
92	quatre-vingt-douze
93	quatre-vingt-treize
100	cent

The word “et” is omitted in 81 and 91.

The –t in quatre-vingts and quatre-vingt-un is not pronounced.

The –s is dropped from quatre-vingts in 81-99.

The –t in cent is silent before a consonant (cent places), and pronounced before a noun beginning with a vowel sound; cent ans.

Don’t insert “et” in the number cent un. There is no liaison between cent and un.

Exercise 3

Circle the number you hear (read by your instructor) in each row.

a. 22	32	42	g. 55	45	95
b. 68	78	58	h. 80	60	90
c. 44	84	94	i. 78	99	69
d. 29	39	36	j. 47	87	97
e. 61	81	71	k. 79	99	89
f. 93	83	73	l. 100	20	40

Provide your home address

John: Où habites-tu?

Amadou: Au quartier Diakhssawo, à la villa 326.

Exercise 4 (Class Work)

Start a chain. The first student asks the student next to him where he lives, that student answers, then asks the student next to him, and so on until the question comes back to the first student.

Exercise 5 (Pairs)

With a partner, practice asking for the correct telephone number in French. Begin with:
Allo? Est-ce que je suis au...?

A. 42.67.96.08

quarante-deux, soixante-sept, quatre-vingt-seize, zéro huit

B. 48-84-94-13

quarante-huit, quatre-vingt-quatre, quatre-vingt-quatorze, treize

C. 46.01.00.16

quarante-six, zéro un, zéro zéro, seize

Exercise 6 (Pair Work)

Quel est le numéro? Ask your partner the following numbers. Take turns for each one.

Ex. Quel est le numéro de ta carte d'étudiant?

C'est le trois deux sept...

- 1) son numéro de sécurité sociale
- 2) son adresse
- 3) le numéro de son permis de conduire
- 4) son code postal
- 5) le numéro de téléphone d'un ami (e)

Provide the ages of your family members

Read the text to follow as Julie talks about her birthday and the birthdays of some of her closest family members.

L'anniversaire

Julie: Mon anniversaire est le quinze septembre. Ma fille a dix ans. Son anniversaire est le douze août. L'anniversaire de mon mari Patrick est le deux juillet.

Vrai ou Faux? The following dates are given in English. Check if they are V/F and correct if false. Give the French date.

- | | |
|---------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| 1. Isabelle's birthday is 8/13. | F 8/12 (le douze aoû; 12/08) |
| 2. Patrick's birthday is 2/7. | F (le deux juillet; 2/07) |
| 3. Julie's birthday is 9/15. | V 15/9 (le quinze septembre) |

Exercise 7 (Group Work)

Tell the class about your birthday and at least 2 people in your immediate family.

Exercise 8 (Pairs)

As a review, ask your partner how many people there are in his/her families and then ask for more details such as ages and addresses:

Find out their names.

Find out how old they are.

Find out where they live.

Now, present your partner to the class.

Sample Answer:

David, il a deux frères qui s'appellent John et Fred. Fred a 17 ans et John a 23 ans. Les deux frères habitent à Raleigh.

Tip of the day: Prices and the Monetary unit→Franc CFA (communauté Financière Africaine franc)

Eight French-speaking countries in West Africa already use a common money, the CFA Franc.

Members of the West African Franc: Mali, Burkina Faso, Ivory Coast, Guinea-Bissau, Senegal, Niger, Benin, Togo.

There are several common ways of writing prices in French:

quarante-huit (francs) cinquante =

48F50

48, 50

48, 50 Frs.

48 FRS 50

48ff50

Requesting and Buying MerchandiseTo buy merchandise:

Je voudrais... I would like...

Combien coûte(nt)... How much is (are)...

Expressions—Use these expressions to request and buy different types of merchandise:

La marchandise est...

- ⇒ bon marché / meilleur marché (cheap / good deal)
- ⇒ en solde / en promotion (on sale)
- ⇒ de bonne / meilleure / mauvaise qualité (of the best quality)

Le prix est...

- ⇒ trop élevé (too high) / raisonnable / avantageux / intéressant (low)
- ⇒ imbattable (unbeatable)

Verbs—Practice these verbs to use for buying or asking about merchandise:

- ⇒ garder / demander / montrer le reçu ou la facture (to keep / ask for / show the receipt or bill)
- ⇒ rapporter / échanger (une chemise) qui a un défaut = to take back / exchange (a shirt) that has a fault.

After you have reviewed these expressions as a class, read the dialogue to practice buying merchandise.

Tip of the day: The French use the comma (virgule) in decimal numbers only: 3, 25.

There may be a blank space where English uses a comma. Un point (a period) is sometimes also used.

For example: 2 250 or 2. 250.

John buys some stationary to write to his family and asks the merchant about prices.
Practice the dialogue with a partner.

John: Combien coûtent ces enveloppes? How much are these envelopes?

Marchand: Elles coûtent 400 F. They cost

John: Et ce stylo? Combien coûte-t-il?

Marchand: 150 F.

John: Ça fait combien en tout? How much is it all together?

Marchand: 550 F.

John: Voilà 600 F.

Marchand: Voilà votre monnaie. Here is your change

Vrai ou Faux?

1. John achète un stylo et des enveloppes. V

2. Le stylo et les enveloppes coûtent six cents francs. F, 550 F

Exercise 9 (follow-up)

Ask the price for the following objects. Your partner will answer you.

Example: combien coûtent les balles de tennis?

Elles coûtent 32 francs.

Ce n'est pas trop cher (c'est trop cher).

- 1) planche à voile 3 300 F
- 2) raquette de tennis 650 F
- 3) skis 975 F
- 4) mobylette 4 250 F
- 5) balles de tennis 32 F
- 6) ballon de football 160 F

Exercise 10 (Group Work)

Les promotions

You are going shopping in a frozen food store. Most words to look for will be cognates or easy to recognize. You will buy the main dish, some vegetables and a dessert. Look online for 4 sale items for “les produits surgelés”. What will you choose?

Sample items to select:

	1 KG HARICOTS TRES FINS 83015 - l'unité 1,93 € 1,70 € (le kilo 1,93 - 1,70 €)
PROMOTION 	1 KG MACEDOINE DE LEGUMES T 83105 - l'unité 1,80 € 1,62 € (le kilo 1,80 - 1,62 €)
PROMOTION 	1 PIZZA ROYALE X 480 G 82411 - l'unité 4,68 € 3,74 € (le kilo 9,75 - 7,79 €)
PROMOTION 	10 BEIGNETS POMMES + 2 GRATUIT 89681 - l'unité 4,52 € 4,52 € (le kilo 5,02 - 5,02 €)
PROMOTION 	100 G ECHALOTE 83316 - l'unité 1,62 € 1,46 €

Now calculate the real price of what you will buy, the sale price and how much you save (économiser). Use the chart to track your findings:

Items	prix avant	prix en promotion	différence de prix
Item 1
Item 2
Item 3
Item 4
Totale:

Give your results to the class. Who made the most expensive menu, the most original? Who saves the most?

Exercise 11 (Pair Work)

Ask your partner the following questions. Be prepared to discuss your ideas with the class. Give simple sentences for each using the information below and expand on your answers in English (for class discussion). What did you learn about each other?

- A) Quand vous achetez quelque chose, quelles caractéristiques sont les plus importantes?
le prix
l'apparence de l'objet (la taille, la couleur, le matériel la qualité
la marque
l'origine (fabriqué aux Etats-Unis, au Japon , etc.
- B) Est-ce que l'importance de la qualité est différente selon l'objet que vous achetez?
Expliquez.

6. juin	12. décembre

Les saisons

Le printemps (m.)	Spring
L'été (m.)	Summer
L'automne (m.)	Autumn / Fall
L'hiver (m.)	Winter

Remember that the -h is silent: hiver = hiver. Use the preposition, en (in) with months or seasons: en hiver, en janvier, etc. Au printemps (In spring) is the only exception; à + le printemps = au printemps.

Exercise 13

Write in French the months during which the following holidays occur.

1. Christmas décembre
2. Halloween octobre
3. Thanksgiving novembre
4. New Year janvier
5. Easter avril
6. Memorial Day mai

Exercise 15 (Pair Work)

Tell your partner about 3 different activities you know how to do well and what month you like to do them. Use the captions above to help you give a detailed answer.

Exercise 16

Make an engagement calendar (use the activities above to help you get started) for whatever month and year it is now. Write out each day's date (le premier, le deux, le trois, etc.) French calendars start with lundi. Days and months are not capitalized. Place le premier in the small block directly beneath whatever day of the week the first falls on in the month, and then continue numbering. List only major verbs on the day: vendredi le 2 juillet / aller à la montagne avec Jim et Tom.

Tip of the day: Dates in numerals

When writing the dates in French in numerals, the day comes before the month. Thus, 2/12 is December 2nd, not February 12th!

The date

Quelle est la date d'aujourd'hui?
Aujourd'hui, nous sommes (c'est/on est) le 30 octobre.

To give the date in French, use the cardinal numbers except for the first of any month, in which case you need to use the ordinal: c'est le premier juillet → It's the first of July.

Note to the instructor: from now on, start each class by asking students the date and day.

Exercise 17 (Pairs)

Questions personnelles: Practice these questions with your partner.

1. Quel jour est-ce aujourd'hui?

Holiday activities

Read the following texts that describe francophone holidays and family events. The first one is very general and the second text is a more personalized version (Julie's narrative). With your class, discuss unique aspects of your family activities during the holidays.

Les fêtes

Anniversaires, Noël, ... sont des fêtes familiales, réunissant toutes les générations. Les repas (déjeuner ou dîner) sont généralement longs. (Il ne faut pas oublier que les français aiment bien manger et bien boire, et les fêtes permettent de profiter des "plaisirs" de la table).

Julie talks about her plans for the coming Christmas holiday.

Pour Noël, ma famille et moi, nous allons (aller) chez mes parents. Nous allons prendre l'avion le vingt-quatre décembre. Le soir, nous allons manger et parler. Le lendemain, je vais faire la cuisine avec ma mère. Puis, nous allons ouvrir les cadeaux. Les enfants vont faire un bonhomme de neige, et nous allons regarder la télévision. Et vous, qu'est-ce que vous allez faire?

*Christmas
Take the plane*

*Open the gifts
snowman*

Vrai ou Faux?

1. Julie va prendre l'avion le 24 décembre. V
2. Ils vont ouvrir les cadeaux le vingt-cinq décembre. V
3. Les hommes vont faire la cuisine. F les femmes vont faire la cuisine.

Exercise 19 (Pairs)

Place these holiday (family) celebrations in order of importance for you.

Le 1^{er} janvier: jour de l'An, La fête des Mères, fête des Pères, et les anniversaires, les fêtes, les fiançailles et mariages.

Exercise 20 (Pair Work)

Tell your partner how you normally celebrate New Year's Eve or New Year's Day with your family. Ask your partner how s/he usually celebrates the occasion. Share your ideas with the class.

Tip of the day: Tabaski

Tabaski is the most popular holiday of the Moslem community in Senegal. It is celebrated almost identically in all of the country's different communities. The day starts early because everybody has to dress up for the occasion. At 9:00 am, the men go to pray either at the mosque or at a designated public place, and upon their return, they slaughter sheep or lambs for the day's feast. During the day, people move a lot, visit and wish each other a happy holiday and ask forgiveness of each other for whatever might have happened between them during the course of the year. After most visits are over, people get together by age group and spend the whole day barbecuing and playing cards.

Children also get together by age group and run from one family to another to collect money gifts known as Ndewenal. In the afternoon, people go out to see soccer games or traditional dance parties organized in the neighborhood on the occasion of this holiday. This outing is usually an opportunity for women, particularly, to show how well they are dressed and how nice their braids are, since most of them have spent the day cooking for their families.

Age

To ask about or say someone's age in French, use the verb avoir:

Quel âge as-tu ?	How old are you?
J' ai vingt ans.	I have ten years (of age) → I am 20 years old.
Elle a trente ans.	She is 30 (years old).

Note: When talking about age, the word ans is not optional.

Demonstrative adjectives

As all adjectives in French, demonstrative adjectives agree in gender and number with the noun they accompany.

Masculine singular	Masculine noun starting with vowel or mute h	Feminine singular	Plural
ce stylo this pen	cet homme this man	cette femme this woman	ces enveloppes these envelopes

Exercise 1

Fill in the blanks with the proper form of the demonstrative adjective.

1. Je vais acheter ces livres.
2. Combien coûte cette table?
3. Est-ce que ce stylo est à toi?
4. Qui est cette femme? Et qui sont ces enfants?
5. Cette maison est très belle.
6. Elle aime beaucoup ces couleurs.
7. Ces étudiants sont très intelligents.
8. Cet homme est mon frère.

Exercise 2

Your classroom was hit by a tornado and you are sorting things out. Fill in the blanks with the proper form of the demonstrative adjective.

Ce livre est à Jim. Ces cahiers sont à George. Ce stylo et cette chaise sont au professeur.

Definite article + days of the week

When a day of the week is preceded by the definite article, it indicates something that happens every week on that day. When a day of the week has no article, the coming day is what is being referred to. Example: le lundi: on Mondays

lundi: this Monday

The definite article can also be used with parts/times of the day: le matin (in the mornings), le soir (in the evenings), etc.

Exercise 3

Circle the words that translate the sentence accurately.

1. Mercredi, je travaille. I work this Wednesday / on Wednesdays

2. Elle fait la cuisine le vendredi soir. She cooks on Fridays / this Friday

3. Nous jouons au football le dimanche. We play soccer this Sunday / on Sundays

The verb faire (to do, to make)

The verb faire (to do, to make) is used with idiomatic phrases that indicate household chores and playing/practicing certain sports. Its conjugation is irregular.

je fais	nous faisons
tu fais	vous faites
il/elle/on fait	ils/elles font

How to talk about activities one is engaged in:

Faire + du, de la, de l', des + subject
 + sport or pastime

Examples:

Nous faisons de l'anglais.

Mes amis font du ski.

In negative sentences, faire du, de la, de l', des become de/d':

Vous faites de la natation aujourd'hui? Are you going to swim today?

Examples: Je vais faire la cuisine

I am going to do the cooking

Tu vas aller à la maison

You are going to go home

In a negative sentence, ne...pas and other negations surround the conjugated verb:

Nous n'allons pas habiter à Toronto.

Il ne va jamais être content.

Numbers 70-99

In Belgium and Switzerland, other words are used for numbers 70 through 99. Some African countries (former Belgian colonies), such as the Democratic Republic of Congo (formerly Zaïre), also use these numbers. The French system is taught in schools and is widely used by the younger generation, but the Belgian system is still used by the older generation. We provide them for recognition only:

70	septante
71	septante et un
72	septante-deux
80	octante
90	nonante
91	nonante et un
92	nonante-deux

Holidays

Whether it is a religious, national or family holiday, Africans love to celebrate the events in their lives with big festivities. With the exception of birthdays, holidays are usually celebrated publicly with family members and non-family members alike. Consequently, they are attended by a great number of people and constitute a good opportunity for socialization. Holiday celebrations may include offering prayers, or participating in some games such as card playing (most popular game), but eating, drinking and dancing are usually the most common and popular activities, and the success of a holiday celebration largely depends on how well these three activities are featured.

West African countries such as Senegal, Mauritania, Guinea, the Ivory Coast, and Mali celebrate many holidays. Some of these days are religious while others are national or family holidays. Senegal, for instance, is an overwhelmingly Islamic country (92% Moslem), but minorities such as Christians (2%) and practitioners of indigenous beliefs (6%) enjoy complete religious freedom. Senegal is one of those countries where differences in religious beliefs have fostered understanding and mutual appreciation, rather than dividing people. One has to be in Dakar or any other Senegalese town on Christmas Eve to witness the fervor with which Senegalese of all creeds celebrate this Christian holiday. The same thing could be said of the coming of the Taske (most important Moslem holiday) during which some Senegalese Christians also slaughter sheep, a sacrifice only imposed on Moslems.

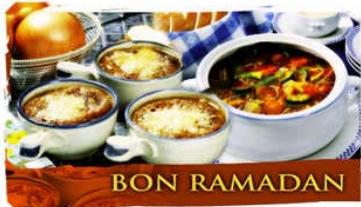

Even though national holidays are important, they do not command as much celebration and enthusiasm as religious or family holidays. The Senegalese are deeply religious and religious matters occupy a central place in their lives. Unlike Christian holidays, Islamic holidays are based on the lunar calendar (i.e. on the sighting of the moon). Consequently, they do not fall on fixed dates as Christian holidays do. For example, the start of the month of Ramadan moves forward by eleven days each year. Because the moon is not always visible from everywhere at the same time, some countries celebrate the holidays one day earlier or one day later than others. Except for Tam Kharit, which is mostly a night-time celebration, all the religious and national holidays are off days in Senegal. The following is a list of the most popular holidays in the country.

Religious Holidays

1) Moslem Holidays

Tabaski or Taske: 10th of El Hijja, the most important holiday in Senegal and other Moslem countries. It celebrates the sacrificial lamb that was offered when Ibrahim (Abraham) was asked to kill his son as a proof of his submission to the commands of Allah. When Ibrahim showed his resolve to carry out the orders given to him by his creator, Allah substituted a sheep for the killing of his son. Tabaski is in reality a 3-day long celebration but the first day is usually the most celebrated one. It is the children's favorite because, in addition to the delicious food and drinks provided during that holiday, they get new clothes and shoes and collect money from the families in the neighborhood. After their return from the 9:00 am prayer that is specific to Tabaski and Ramadan Holidays, most adult people spend their time eating and playing cards.

Korka or Ramadan: celebrates the end of the fasting month known as Ramadan. Here too, people slaughter sheep or cows to feast. As in Tabaski, children get new clothes and also monetary gifts from adults in the neighborhood. The Ramadan Eid (holiday) is a culmination of thirty days of fasting during which Moslems are required to abstain from food, drink and sexual gratification from sunset to sundown. At night, however, Moslems are allowed to resume all the activities listed above. In most households, the nights are spent eating and drinking to make up for the meals of the day. Moslems take advantage of this month to be even nicer to their relatives and neighbors. In Guinea, for instance, people prepare their best dishes to feed the poor or elderly relatives. La Korité is a celebration for the end of Ramadan.

Tam kharit or Harane: 1st day of the Islamic calendar. It is believed that on this day, Allah determines who will live or die for the year to come. Children are told that whoever goes hungry that night will be counted among the people who will die that year. Consequently, lavish dinners are prepared for people to eat.

Maouloud: Celebrates the anniversary of the birth of the Prophet Mohammed. It is a nightly celebration and the main activities are reciting the Koran in mosques (Moslem worshipping places), and making the praises of the Prophet Mohammed all night long. Tivaoune, a city north of Dakar, organizes each year the biggest Maouloud celebration in Senegal.

2) Christian Holidays

Christmas

New Year's Eve

The Assumption Day: August 15, people gather that night on the Hydrobase Beach in Saint Louis. It is one of the most popular celebrations among the young people.
